Service-Learning Syllabus Statement

This section of XXXX is a Service-Learning course. All students enrolled in this course are required to participate in a service-learning experience and complete related assignments. This may require traveling to off-campus sites and hands-on work outside of regular class hours.

Service-Learning combines meaningful service in our community with academic instruction to develop more socially aware, civically responsible and globally engaged students. Service-Learning is not volunteering, nor is it an internship. Volunteering does not necessarily connect with classroom instruction and internships may not involve service at all. Rather, service-learning equally benefits the community recipient and the student by placing equal importance on the service provided and the learning achieved.

Service-Learning experiences and assignments will support our course objectives and learning outcomes, address community need, necessitate structured student reflection and recognize efforts of those involved. You will be graded for portions of your work.
